

VISIT TO DRUK PADMA KARPO SCHOOL

Druk Padma Karpo School in Ladhak maintains the rich cultural traditions of Tibetan Buddhism and equips the children with world class education. This is a school located in the beautiful village of Shey.

The architecture of the school building is eco-friendly and has won awards for it - the main highlight being the solar panels for generating electricity which has made it well equipped to take on the severe winter.

The school has a strength of 700 children and provides hostel facility to both boys and girls. They have well developed math and science labs and also has a musical band known as the 'WHITE LOTUS BAND'.

On the 24th of September 2015 DPKS celebrated its 14th Founder's Day. Mrs. Abha Sahgal, the principal of Sanskriti School was invited as a guest. Mamta Kochhar and Aparna Singh attended the function on her behalf.

Sanskriti School has joined hands with DPKS as 'Sister School' that will work together, mutually supporting the common goal of achieving excellence under the able guidance of Mrs. Abha Sahgal and his holiness the 2nd Thiksey Rinpoche – Chairman DPKS.
